Subject: wolf baiting and unmanned electronic devices

As an Idaho resident , a hunter and an outdoor enthusiast, I strongly disagree with the proposed legislation concerning wolf baiting. I find it abhorrent that Idaho, a state I have chosen to call my home, would be the only state in the country to allow such barbaric practices. I also strongly favor severe restrictions for the use of unmanned devices and electronic communication equipment for hunting, as I believe this goes against the spirit of outdoors recreation and hunting. These sort of devices have no place in our unspoiled wilderness areas. Please take my opinions into account before acting on these two important pieces of public policy.

Sincerely,
Dan Turner
