

General Rules

Kittens, Female With Young: Neither spotted mountain lion young nor female mountain lions accompanied by spotted young may be taken.

Evidence of Sex must be left attached to the hide of any mountain lion taken. For mountain lions, external evidence of sex (either scrotum, penis, or testicles for males, or vulva for females) must be left naturally attached to the hide until the mandatory check requirement has been satisfied.

Retrieving Meat: Hunters are not required to retrieve meat from a harvested lion.

Bag Limit: No person may take more than one mountain lion per legal tag in his or her possession.

Capturing Mountain Lions: No person may trap, snare or otherwise capture or hold any mountain lion.

Big Game Feeding Sites: It is unlawful to hunt or pursue mountain lions within one-half mile of any active Fish and Game big game feeding site.

Mandatory Check and Report: Any hunter harvesting a mountain lion must check and report their kill within 10 days of the date of kill. To check their kill hunters must:

- Present the skull and hide to an Idaho Fish and Game conservation officer, regional office or other official checkpoint for removal and retention of a premolar tooth and to have the hide tagged with an official state export tag. No person, who does not possess a fur buyer or taxidermist license with appropriate import documentation, shall have, except during the open season and for 10 days after the close of the season, any raw mountain lion pelt that does not have an official state export tag attached (either Idaho's or another state's official export documentation).

- A hunter may authorize another person to comply with the above requirements if that person possesses enough information to accurately complete the necessary form. Proxy statement required, see page 102.
- Please thaw your mountain lion hide and skull before bringing it in for tagging. Staff members may not be able to check a frozen hide or skull.

Fish and Game's headquarters office is not equipped to check in mountain lions. For regional office locations and phone numbers see page 4.

LEAVE TRAPS AND TRAPPED ANIMALS ALONE

Hunters and others may encounter a legally set trap, and possibly wildlife caught in a trap. It is illegal to disturb traps, remove wildlife caught in them, or kill any wildlife in a trap. Violators can be punished under state law.

If you are concerned about a trap or captured animal you encountered, contact a regional Fish and Game office.

People hunting with dogs, or people walking pets off leash in areas where trapping may occur, should become familiar with how to safely remove a pet from a trap. Details are available on page 43 of the Upland Game, Turkey, and Furbearer seasons and rules booklet or at idfg.idaho.gov/trap

Regulated trapping is an important management tool and a legal activity in Idaho. Trapping provides many benefits to Idahoans by reducing wildlife damage to crops and property, mediating threats to human health and safety, and trapping is also used to monitor many species of furbearing mammals.
