Last fall, a dream came true for me. I harvested a bull moose along the South Fork of the Snake River, and some of my closest friends were there. It meant a lot to me to share the experience with them, and to have their help cleaning, skinning and quartering the bull then hauling him back to camp.

Another favorite moment was stopping by my daughter and son-in-law’s house on my way home and showing the skull and antlers to my grandsons Thatcher and Cameron (ages 5 and 2). Both of these little fellows are lifetime license holders, and I want to see all young Idahoans have the same hunting, fishing and trapping opportunities in the future that we enjoy today.

Last winter, the Idaho legislature and Gov. C.L. “Butch” Otter did their part by approving the first resident fee increase in a dozen years as part of House Bill 230. From a fiscal perspective, the bill does three main things.

• Supports the Fish and Game Commission to use their discount authority so that Idahoans can exempt themselves from paying the higher fees by purchasing any annual license in 2017 and each subsequent year for at least the next five years (“Price Lock”).

• It provides more resources (about $3 million annually) for fish and wildlife management.

• Includes an access/depredation surcharge with the purchase of an annual resident or nonresident license. The annual fee provides new funding to improve sportsman’s access, wildlife depredation prevention and depredation compensation.

Idaho Fish and Game last summer launched the first phase of an aggressive multi-year marketing campaign to inform Idahoans about the advantages of Price Lock. The success of Price Lock depends on how many Idahoans “lock-in” by purchasing an annual license in 2017, and by continuing to buy an annual license each year after.

Resident license fees for 2018 increased by about 20 percent for those who didn’t buy an annual license in 2017. If the Price Lock concept works by more Idahoans purchasing annual licenses every year rather than intermittently, Fish and Game will have the resources to be effective for a longer time before the need arises for a future fee increase.

Those Idahoans who are “price locked” also pay lower 2017 prices for all tags and permits in addition to their annual license.

The Fish and Game Commission is also applying Price Lock to all 3-year resident licenses, meaning if you missed out on Price Lock by not purchasing an annual license in 2017, you can purchase a 3-year license in 2018 or during any of the following four years and get locked in at 2017 prices for licenses, tags & permits. Three year license purchasers will also see a one-third discount on their Access/Depredation fee.

Nothing like Price Lock has ever been tried by another fish and wildlife agency. The Idaho Legislature and the Fish and Game Commission will review Price Lock after at least five years to determine whether it should continue.

Here’s how Fish and Game is using the Price Lock license revenue:

• Modernizing hatcheries and increasing fish production

• Conducting more population surveys to support game management decisions

• Spending more to improve and maintain public shooting ranges

• Improving Fish and Game’s website and communication with sportsmen and women

• Increasing fish and wildlife predation management and noxious weed control

In recent years, Idaho hunters have enjoyed some of the best big game hunting in decades. Most of them recognize that by managing deer and elk at high levels, Idaho Fish and Game must respond effectively when those animals cause problems for private property owners.

The new access/depredation fee provides benefits both for sportsmen and for farmers and ranchers. The surcharge ($5 for residents, $10 for nonresidents) is paid prior to a person purchasing his or her first annual Idaho hunting or fishing license each year. The fee will provide an additional $1 million each year sportsman’s access and $1 million annually for wildlife depredation compensation and prevention.

With the added resources from Price Lock and the Access/Depredation fee, Idaho Fish and Game is better equipped and positioned to increase fish and wildlife populations, to manage deer and elk impacts to private landowners, and to continue Idaho’s hunting and fishing legacy for our kids and grandkids.

Thank you for supporting Idaho Fish and Game and wildlife conservation in Idaho. I wish you great hunting, fishing and trapping in 2018.
